MyWPCFinder is a useful application that will enable you to search and download your content from any local or remote office network. It supports Windows 7, Windows 10, Windows 8.1 and Windows Server 2016. Scan for existing network folders and files. MyWPCFinder is quick and easy to use. You have the option to install it as a background application (if you wish) or make it start automatically every time you log in to your network. In the latter case, you can then scan remote network folders that might be interesting to you, and download them to your computer. This tool supports p2p scanning and will search the whole network for files and folders including p2p files. If you want to search for local files, you will need to mount the remote server. With an office network, you will have to select a local network location for scanning. To do this, you will need to type in its IP address and a shared folder (or a drive letter) that can be accessed by network computers. You can specify as many network locations as you wish. Connect to network shares. Once the server is scanned, you can save all the found content on your local system or on a local network drive. This depends on your wishes and preferences. All the saved data will be sent in a zip file, so you can either unzip them, open the folder that contains them or add them directly to the root of the hard drive. Manage files on the remote server. The local data will be automatically downloaded to your computer. You can organize them in folders according to their content (i.e. pictures, videos or music). An internet connection is required for remote file saving and downloading. However, if your network isn't too large, it won't be an issue. MyWPCFinder has the options to keep internet connections active all the time or
