Download Site2SMSClient latest version: 0.5.1.01. Field of the Invention The present invention relates generally to a lamp holder and more particularly to a lamp holder in which a lamp bulb can be easily replaced without removing the holder from its base. 2. Description of the Prior Art Presently, lamp holders used with lamp bulbs or lamps frequently have to be removed from their bases in order to replace a lamp bulb. Accordingly, there is a need for a lamp holder that can be easily replaced without removing the holder from its base. There have been various developments in the field of lamp holders, and among them are the U.S. Pat. No. 3,318,869 issued to Pirrelli; the U.S. Pat. No. 4,013,333 issued to Ciarlo et al; the U.S. Pat. No. 4,170,925 issued to Jagla; the U.S. Pat. No. 4,216,967 issued to Chiocca; and the U.S. Pat. No. 4,605,469 issued to Ochiai et al. These designs, however, have many drawbacks, including the complexity of their designs and the parts required to achieve a ready lamp bulb replacement. Therefore, a need existed to provide an improved lamp holder. The improved lamp holder would be relatively simple and compact. The improved lamp holder would also allow for ready lamp bulb replacement without removing the holder from its base. The improved lamp holder should also be easy to manufacture and at relatively low cost. The object and advantages of the present invention will become more apparent from the detailed description of the preferred embodiments, presented below. Ventilator-associated pneumonia. Ventilator-associated pneumonia (VAP) continues to be a major cause of mortality in ICUs, although there has been a decline in its
